

Tom Corrick

Tom Corrick has been the CEO for Boise Cascade Company since March 2015. He was previously in charge of wood products manufacturing and ran that division's engineered wood products business, and worked in the treasury and planning functions.

Tom has been with Boise Cascade since 1980.

He received both his bachelors and masters degrees in business administration from Texas Christian University.

Tom serves as a board member for the Treasure Valley YMCA and is chairman for the American Wood Council (AWC).

He and his wife, Laurie, have two daughters who have finished college and entered the working world.

Company Website: www.BC.com