

Jim Davis, President
Barrons Lumber
Maryland/Virginia

Jim Davis is an owner, president/CEO of Barrons Enterprises, Inc.
A lumber and building supply company serving the Washington D.C. market.
Barrons has a location in Maryland and Virginia.
Mr. Davis also serves as a director of LBM Advantage Cooperative.

Mr. Davis started with Barrons in 1978 in the stockroom and as the janitor. Mr. Davis became an owner in 1991. Working in virtually every area of the company he eventually became president and CEO in 2008.

Mr. Davis successfully led the company through one of the worst economic downturns in the history of the country. While Barrons navigated the tough economy, it maintained a profitable status and nearly tripled in size.

Mr. Davis is a graduate of Harvard Business School's Executive Education Owner/President Management Program.

Mr. Davis sets the strategic agenda for his company. He defines and seeks out a corporate culture that aligns with his vision of success.