Responsibilities

As Vice President of A&E at Keller, Steve is responsible for managing the architectural, engineering and design staff of Keller, Inc. Steve and his staff provide complete design services for Keller clients. From needs assessment, to master planning, to floor layout and building design, Steve works directly with his clients. In his design, Steve looks to compliment the surrounding environment, meet all functional requirements of the project, and design the building to reflect the client's aesthetic desires. During the construction phase, Steve provides oversight of the project to ensure the design intent is fully met. Owner satisfaction is his highest priority. Steve provides architectural insight into a wide variety of building uses and construction types. Steve has been in the construction industry since 1982 and a registered Architect since 1987. He leads all of Keller's design efforts. Steve leads Keller's continuing education effort. His efforts to change the ineffective portions of the code has gained him the recognition of his peers. He has been recognized for his innovative ideas that truly bring design creativity in line with functional affordability. Steve's experience ranges from initial site selection, design, project development, construction, to leasing/management.
